About Us

PEKURIC Limited is a civil engineering company in Nigeria with a vision to redefine the global architectural landscape by providing innovative and functional solutions in architectural design, road construction, building construction and development, and consulting.

We have a vast portfolio that is truly multi-sectoral. Our body of work cuts across the private sector, public sector and international organizations; ranging from processing plants, factories, and silos for agro-allied industries, the establishment of estates, construction of roads, storm-water control measures, construction/remodelling of buildings, parks and church auditoriums.

We are committed to providing exceptional value by paying close attention to details. Our unique selling proposition is our ability to provide bespoke, innovative solutions that align with our client's visions and desires. We have a highly skilled team of engineers, architects, surveyors and other technical experts who are well-equipped to handle even the most intricate engineering projects from design and planning to construction and management. Driven by the mantra "Until the Client is satisfied, we are not done", We are proud of the quality of our work and are committed to delivering exceptional service to all our clients. Our team works diligently throughout every stage of the project, ensuring timely updates and completion within budget. We understand that satisfied clients are crucial to our success and future growth, which is why we strive to offer the best quality and value in every project.

Our foremost goal is to be among the top players in the construction industry across the globe. We continuously strive to improve our skills and expertise to achieve this objective. At PEKURIC, we do not rest on our laurels; instead, we focus on delivering quality projects to maintain our excellent reputation in the industry. We are passionate about construction, and every member of our team is committed to upholding our core values, from visionary leadership to all staff in the company.
